

Prayerful Gamblers.

The following item is taken from the Salvation Army War Cry of Jan. 23:

Happy Edd Lee, who is now specialing with Captain Beck and who was raised in this district and has many warm friends, both Christians and non-Christians, was singing a song in a club room, in Virginia City, when all the gamblers stopped to listen. At the close Eddy said: "Now you kneel down while we have a word of prayer." Curious glances were exchanged. All hands got down on their knees while Eddy poured out his heart to God for their salvation. When he got up many thanked him and the game started up once more, but many looked thoughtful as though they realized that they were in the game of life and were not winners.

The above may be true, but still the APPEAL is incredulous. It may be that a number of gamblers left their games to kneel in prayer, but if so the sports of the Comstock have changed since the writer lived in Virginia City.

Imagine "Long Brown" or "Johnny-behind-the-ace" laying down a hand of four jacks to join in supplications to Heaven or "Doughnut Bill" with the queen copped and three-six in the box on the last turn, deliberately leaving the layout to send a message to the great beyond. They might of done just those very things had they been presented with the opportunity but old Comstockers if told of it would at least look incredulous.

The Intelligent Drummer.

This story is told by an exchange: A printer recently walked into a certain store on his rounds to see if they wanted anything in the way of advertising, and noticed a drummer standing by the counter ready to open his sample case. "Anything today you desire in the paper this week?" "I would not give a snap for advertising."

The drummer waited until the printer was half way to the door, then slowly taking up his gripe he remarked: "I do not care to sell to a man in this enlightened age who does not believe in advertising. When I want to strike up a trade with a dead man I'll go to the cemetery and swap tombstones."

A Silver Palace.

Chicago, Jan. 22.—Edward Rosewater, chief of the Bureau of Publicity and Promotion of the Trans-Mississippi Exposition to be held in Omaha from June to November, 1898, is acting for the exposition directors, and has approved and accepted the plans for a silver palace. This palace is to be one of the imposing features of the exposition and the central figure in a portion of the grounds to be called El Dorado.

The building is to be 400 feet square surmounted with mammoth ornamental towers, and the entire structure will be covered with rolled silver. The silver to be used in its external covering will be contributed by the miners of the great West. Over 300,000 square feet of external surface will be covered by the precious metal.

The "Silver Palace" will be used entirely for the display of the mineral products and progress of the West. The amount of pure silver to be used in covering the walls and dome of the mammoth building has not been definitely estimated. It will largely depend upon the thinness of the sheets of pure metal that can be used for this purpose.

That Airship Again.

Lodi, Cal., Jan. 22.—The airship craze was revived here by the appearance of an aerial navigator in daylight. Many people in Acampo, three miles north of here said they saw it the other day sailing over as plain as the sun. It seemed as big as a small house and looked like it was built of canvas. It went southeast. Some farmers also saw it the same day near here. The ship seemed to be under perfect control.

The Income Tax Bill.

The fight over the income tax bill threatens to be a lively one. The late Governor's objections to the bill are numerous, some of which are as follows: That under the Constitution of the State taxation is provided for, and one mode of taxation having been provided all others are excluded. The bill does not attempt to tax all incomes. It especially exempts incomes less than $1,000. No good reason is perceived for such exemption. It also discriminates against the taxpayer by imposing a lighter rate of taxation upon some incomes than upon others—for example; upon incomes of $1,000 and less than $1,500 a rate of 1 per cent is levied, while upon incomes exceeding $4,000 a rate of 4 per cent is levied.

The bill particularly enumerates certain sources of incomes which are subject to taxation, but contains no general clause which is broad enough to include many sources of income specially mentioned.

Building and loan associations are expressly exempt. This exemption is not included in the exemptions provided by Article 10 of the Constitution.

These provisions, in the late Governor's opinion, made the bill objectionable; hence his veto. It is thought, however, that the bill will pass the Assembly, although there is a strong pull being made against it.

Under Advisement.

The argument in the case of Chas. A. Jones charged with assault with intent to commit bodily injury was heard in the Supreme Court yesterday occupying all day. The Court took the case under advisement.

He's All Right.

Louisville, Ky. Jan. 23.—Major J. Crosthwaith of Harrison county who died this morning in his will directs the erection of a silver monument base with "Face Silver at 16 to 1" inscribed on it.

The first of a series of "Evenings at the Manse" was given by Mrs. Nash last night to the Endeavorers and their friends. These evenings are both educational and social. The first subject was Mrs. Browning. A delightful little paper was read by Miss Birdie Anderson and a resume of her works given by Mrs. Nash. The next subject will be "Our Modern Scotch Writers."

The general opinion among members of both branches is that after the Senatorial election on Tuesday next both houses will get down to business. A number of important bills are in course of preparation, and the adjournment for a day or two will give an opportunity of arranging all of the details concerning committee meeting and other matters necessary for the systematic handling of business.

Has Two District Attorneys

Nye county has the proud distinction of sporting two district attorneys at the present time. A. P. Johnson still holds in his possession the keys of the district attorneys' office and refuses to surrender them to James L. Butler, who was elected at the last election and who was declared district attorney and county superintendent of schools by the board of county commissioners of Nye county at the regular meeting of said board held in Belmont, on the 4th of January, 1897. Mr. Johnson holds the keys of the office on ground that Butler neglected to file with the county clerk of Nye county his (Butler's) statement of election expenses within the time prescribed by the law of this state. Messrs Johnson and Butler attended every meeting of the board of examiners this week and in an official capacity. This case will in all probability be submitted to the courts of adjudication. Should the courts hold that Mr. Johnson's claim is good, there will be music in the air in Nevada, as in all likelihood, there will be men in the legislature next Monday who will take their seats as members and their are, perhaps, men holding county offices in this state, who for this reason are not entitled to hold the offices. The sooner this question is decided the better it will be for all concerned.—Belmont Courier.

Carrie Clark-Ward Co.

"Forty-nine" is the play selected by the Carrie Clark-Ward Company for their opening bill. Katie O'Connor, a pretty Irish comedy, will be given Tuesday evening. Wednesday evening will be devoted to Mrs. Henry Woods' emotional drama East Lynne—Miss Ward appearing in the role of Lady Isabel, the jealous wife. This old play seems to have lost none of its drawing powers for on every occasion that the Ward Company have put it up, many people were unable to gain entrance to the theatre at 8 o'clock.

Hearts of Oak, Underground, Uncle Tom's Cabin and Ten Nights in a Bar-room are also sure of big houses, for the public as a rule will patronize an old drama before they will a new one without a reputation.

Seats are selling rapidly for Monday and Tuesday nights, and from present indications, Miss Ward will be greeted by a large audience.

The Fisher Case.

San Francisco, Jan. 24.—At a meeting of the creditors of Will F. Fisher, the absconding realty agent, today it was decided that Fisher would be prosecuted criminally. Thirty creditors were present, representing claims aggregating thirty-seven thousand dollars; "and there are others." Most of the liabilities are for rents, collected by Fisher but not accounted for by him to his principals. His total liabilities are estimated at one hundred thousand dollars. The assets from office furniture are of doubtful value. Fisher is a member of the Governor's staff. It is said that he will be dismissed by Bodd.
